

Knowledge Partnership

Fontys University of Applied Sciences

Bachelor programmes (Bsc) of Logistics Engineering & Logistics Management Studies and

GATE41 Logistics GmbH & Co. KG

The goal of this cooperation is to provide students in the field of Logistics with the opportunity to get inspired, to get informed about career opportunities and to give them access to a vivid learning environment. To prepare students for a professional career, it's essential to provide them with a solid foundation in theory within their domain, but also with practical experience with state-of-the-art technologies and real world projects. In order to do this, especially in the highly dynamic world in which we live today, cooperation with the business sector is crucial. In a world of great demand for professionals, it's a social responsibility and in favour of the parties, companies and educational institutions, to educate young people with the right knowledge, skills and professional behaviour.

The collaboration includes the activities as have been described on the back of this document. At least once a year, parties evaluate these activities and, if necessary, modify them in line with the commitment that has been made.
